Smarter Access Technologies Introduces U2Boards at ASIS 2008, Atlanta, GA

Smarter Access Technologies celebrated the release of the U2Boards family of products at the annual American Society of Industrial Security show this year in Atlanta, GA.

The show was a great success as more than 40 privately scheduled meetings were held with manufacturers, integrators, consultants and end users. In addition, daily luncheon seminars were heavily attended and provided excellent product review and feedback.

Smarter Access Technologies sincerely thanks all who attended and made our product introduction a resounding success.
